TITLE: Letter from Francis Gore, Ennis, County Clare, concerning application for financial aid to carry out improvements to the port of Clare and the River Fergus

SCOPE &
CONTENT: Letter from Francis Gore, Ennis, County Clare, to Henry Goulburn, Chief Secretary, Dublin Castle, enclosing a memorial from the inhabitants of the neighbourhood of Ennis, County Clare, to Richard Wellesley, 1st Marquis Wellesley, Lord Lieutenant, Dublin Castle, requesting advance of financial aid to carry out improvements to the port of Clare and to the River Fergus. Emphasises the importance of the proposed scheme 'for extending the commerce and the agriculture of this remote part of Ireland'. Signed by Thomas Brown and 242 individuals. Also encloses a memorial from the inhabitants of Ennis to King George IV expressing a wish for advance of funds to develop the river and harbour region near Ennis. Remarks that access to the town for ships is impeded 'by a bar or ledge of rocks which extends across the river near Clare Castle so that small boats only can pass up to the town of Ennis and at spring tides only'. Refers to proposal by John Killaly, civil engineer, to make a cut in the riverbed of about 400 yards rendering safe access directly to the town for large vessels, which is located some 2 miles upstream. Draws attention to a survey of the intended work, of which expenditure of near £11,000 will include the cost of 'a lock, Basin, excavation and drawbridge'. Signed by Richard Floyd Sr and 247 individuals. Also copy of resolutions passed by grand jury of County Clare at the Spring assizes of 1825 in favour of the work, signed by John Ormsby Vandeleur, foreman; with annotation overleaf from Goulburn instructing a letter be addressed to the 2 MPs for County Clare stating that no funds are available for the project in question. Also handwritten prospectus outlining the many advantages that will flow from the development of the intended 'canal' of Clare. Highlights the quantity of corn, butter and pork that are produced in the county, and anticipates the development of the cotton trade in the region. Stresses too the beneficial effects of giving employment to those without work in the vicinity.
